

Lying to Control

(October 24, 2022)

Satan is the father of lies as well as a murderer from the beginning, according to our Lord, in John 8:44.

You are of your father the devil, and your will is to do your father's desires. He was a murderer from the beginning, and does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks out of his own character, for he is a liar and the father of lies.
(ESV)

In the above text, Jesus was speaking specifically to and about the Pharisees, who were tremendous liars. Lying allowed them to keep their social status and self-importance to lord it over others. People feared their power. But long before the Pharisees perfected the art of lying, Satan created it.

In the Garden of Eden, Satan lied to our first parents (Genesis 3). There were two sins here; lying to Adam and Eve and murdering them because of what occurred as a result of believing Satan's lies.

We only go a few chapters ahead in God's Word to see another instance of Satan murdering someone and trying to cover the murder with lies. This time, it was Cain who murdered his brother Abel over jealousy, (Genesis 4). After Cain committed murder, God came to Cain and asked him where his brother Abel was (Genesis 4:9), with Cain saying he essentially had no clue (v 10). Cain lied to God.

Lying is what Satan does and he lied even before he lied to Adam and Eve, because he somehow managed to get 1/3 of the angels in heaven to follow him in rebellion against God. He didn't do that by telling the truth. He did it by lying to them and making his lies sound as though they were the truth.

Lying is done for a variety of reasons. It may be done to control others, to protect self-interests or for self-preservation or self-promotion. People who lie do so because there is something in it for them. That's really the bottom line.

We don't want our political leaders to lie to us, yet the expression, "speaking out of both sides of his/her mouth" reveals to us what most people believe about politicians. People in powerful positions will often lie by saying absolutely nothing though using a multitude of words to do so. They open their mouths and we hear words coming out but at the end of the day, we are left scratching our heads and trying to figure out exactly what they said. They're vague or deliberately ambiguous so that their words can be taken several ways. They are master liars trafficking in ambiguity.

Today, we now know several ways in which the world has been lied to regarding CV and specifically CV jobs. We know, for instance, that in spite of the fact that we were deliberately told the CV "vax" would stop the spread of CV, we now know it was not able to do so. How do we know? Because it was never tested for that, yet so many known individuals specifically stated that by taking the CV job, it would keep the virus from spreading to other people. They now either ignore what they said previously or deny they said it. These people are professional liars so we must ask three questions:

- Are they lying to protect their guilt?

- Are they lying to protect their self-interests?
- Are they lying to control others?

In the early part of October, during a European Parliament hearing, "Dutch member Rob Roos questioned Pfizer's president of international developed markets, Janine Small, about whether Pfizer had in fact tested and confirmed that their mRNA jab would prevent transmission prior to its rollout." [1] Small's response is astounding to anyone who is paying attention.

No. We had to really move at the speed of science to understand what is happening in the market ... and we had to do everything at risk. [2]

"Speed of science"? Uh...sure. Sounds more like speed of marketing to rake in billions of dollars.

Okay, so the mRNA jab was never "tested and confirmed" to see if it "would prevent transmission prior to its rollout"? Absolutely no testing was done for that. They had zero knowledge of whether or not the jab would actually stop transmission of the virus. None. Nada. Zilch. Yet, they made statements to the contrary.

No big deal, right? Actually major big deal.

Millions of people throughout America and the world were forced to take the jab based on the false and unproven premise that it would stop the transmission of the virus. No CV jab? No job. Some people chose to resign or attempt some form of a medical or religious exemption to save their jobs. Most people, however, were simply fired for non-compliance.

Not only did the jab not stop the transmission of the CV virus, but we are now finding out increasingly that the CV jab is causing major adverse reactions and even sudden deaths for those who took it. More facts are coming out daily regarding the spike protein and how it attacks the body. It is abysmal that because of lies by alleged experts, people are experiencing a tremendous uptick in cancers, organ failures, dementia, Parkinson's, Alzheimer's, heart issues, heart attacks, sudden death and many other things that were, by far, occurring at a much lower percentage rate prior to CV and the CV jab. In general, they're finding out that the spike protein causes major bodily inflammation that in turn, creates a serious immune system disruption. [3]

The tragedy here is that all of this could have been avoided but those in power lied to us because they had something to gain from it. Whether it was control over people, an influx of major amounts of money [4] or something else, it appears that the motivation behind the CV jab was not altruistic at all, but something far more sinister.

So, consider the fact that due to CV, much of the global economy was shut down, the supply chain was seriously interrupted and small businesses went out of business because they were forced to close for not being "essential." People were mandated to wear masks and social distance, which turned out to be the worst possible reaction to CV. Social distancing and mask-wearing weakened people's immune systems. This allowed people to catch anything when they stopped wearing masks again. Numerous epidemiologists warned at the beginning that social distancing and masking would keep the virus around longer. They were ignored and censored.

Liars always lie and we need to remember that they do so for the reasons already noted. This seems especially true of our own government where politicians will look us in the eye and tell us one lie after another with straight faces. Too many people believe what they are told. The question is does our government want to do what's best for us or for government? What does government gain from everything they've previously told us about CV and the CV jab that turned out to be untruths? They gain tremendous amounts of money and control over the population. Is this a good thing? Not if you prefer freedoms guaranteed under the Bill of Rights. What possible reason could the government have for removing our rights? I'll let you respond to that yourself.

Our economy is sinking, quickly. Everything has been disrupted, especially the fuels used to run our vehicles and heat our homes. Now we learn that the USA has enough diesel for about 25 days from today and then, we're not sure what will happen. [5] Apparently, they're considering all options. Decent of them since they got us into this mess.

Interestingly enough, when President Trump wanted to top off the national oil reserves, Rep. Chuck Schumer (D), successfully overruled him, stating later that he had kept Trump from providing "big oil" with a big win (my paraphrase). At that point, oil was only $24/barrel. Now, the price of a barrel of oil is over $80 and President Biden continues to release the oil in the national reserves ahead of the midterms, in hopes of keeping gas prices lower for a few more weeks. But the chickens will come home to roost soon enough if something is not done and we'll be in a world of hurt economically. Without diesel fuel needed to keep things going, goods and supplies cannot be transported via truck or train. Things will come to a halt fairly quickly. This was an avoidable situation. Lies created it and the lies are now falling apart.

I do not know how bad the economy will get. Maybe it looks worse in my imagination than what will actually occur in reality. I just don't know and there's only so much that we can do to try to circumvent problems that appear to be coming down the pike. Like you, I'm not a millionaire. I can only do so much.

CV, the CV jab, the lock-down, masking, social distancing and everything related to it all occurred because of constant lies with too many people accepting those lies as truth. Remarkably, there are people who continue to believe those original lies.

Like you, I'm seeing more people I personally know developing cancers, dementia, heart issues, vein and arterial blockages, organ failures, miscarriages and still births, and even death and it is most likely due to problems associated with the CV jab. [6] [7] [8] And now our illustrious CDC has voted to add the CV jab to the childhood vaccine program [9], which will cause major problems for kids, whom we were initially told, were not really at risk from CV at all. The lying continues unchecked.

Lying is never a win-win situation. Lies create all manner of evil. Christians, above all, should never lie and always tell the truth. We should in fact, live the truth.
