

Love One Another
John 13:34-35
November 14, 2021

Final thoughts of the last living apostle, from Jerome.

We are one piece of a glorious puzzle of God's own creation.

If we know God, we will love one another; deeply, from the heart.

We live in a world that is tearing us apart, literally.

We have a cold, impersonal world at our internet fingertips.

Have we lost the art of loving on another? Relating to one another?

Jesus came to usher in his kingdom, to build a new community of disciples, and to make us into exceptional lovers.

What is new about this new commandment?

The love command is easy to understand. You know what love is, right?

But, How is this a new commandment?

A new example

Christ is our model,

When new people come to this church, what do you hope that they see?

A New Degree of Love

Two differences from the command to love in Lev 19:18

God has called us to be great lovers.
Why are reality shows so popular?

What about the human drama that unfolds all around you every day?

A New Power to Love

5th grade poster

God empowers us to love the unlovable.

Jesus is not asking for the impossible, he is making it possible.

What is the Reason for this New Commandment?

Our love for each other should be noticed.

People are looking for a friend. A family that is whole.

Are you a great lover?

The heart of loving one another, is having the heart of God.
