Deuteronomy 6:1-25

Main Idea: Moses teaches the duty and defense of the commandments of the LORD. This is done by living in the fear and love for the LORD, recognizing the promises and perils of prosperity, and communicating the family's passion, purpose, and past.

I. The duty and defense of the commandments commence with living in the fear and love for the LORD. (1-9)

- A. The life of doing and defending
- B. The life of fear and love for the LORD
- C. The family life of intentional discipleship

II. The duty and defense of the commandments continue with recognizing the promises and perils of prosperity. (10-16)

- A. Recognizing the promises of prosperity
 - 1. Settling the land
 - 2. Sampling the land
- B. Recognizing the perils of prosperity
 - 1. Forgetfulness
 - 2. Idolatry
 - 3. Carelessness

III. The duty and defense of the commandments conclude with communicating the family's passion, purpose, and past. (17-25)

- A. Communicating the family's passion
- B. Communicating the family's purpose
- C. Communicating the family's past
