

Why Luke Wrote Acts

The book of Acts may have been written:

1. To magnify Jesus for the _____, providing indisputable evidence that the risen Jesus was their promised _____ and urging them to receive His salvation and kingdom for themselves.
2. To provide proof of the _____ of Christ.
  - a. By reporting the testimonies of eye-witnesses.
  - b. By reporting the supernatural works of the Holy Spirit poured out by the risen Christ.
3. To make a historically-grounded evangelistic appeal to anyone interested in Jesus (possibly having read Luke's gospel first) or in the remarkable history of early Christianity.
4. To provide clarification for the _____ and encouragement for the _____ regarding the expansion of God's salvation to the nations.
5. To provide a defense of Christianity against the charge that it was a _____ to the empire.
6. To provide a defense of the apostles Peter and Paul against those who wished to discredit them.
7. To provide Christians with examples and principles for _____ their faith.
8. To _____ Christians with the evident outworking of God's ancient plans and promises.
9. To encourage Christians with the news of the advance of the gospel and motivate them with _____.
10. To provide a basic pattern of witness to Jesus, gospel advance, and the establishment of local churches for the generations of Christian who would follow the apostles.
11. To help Christians know and follow Jesus with even more _____ conviction.

Why Luke Wrote Acts

The book of Acts may have been written:

1. To magnify Jesus for the _____, providing indisputable evidence that the risen Jesus was their promised _____ and urging them to receive His salvation and kingdom for themselves.
2. To provide proof of the _____ of Christ.
  - a. By reporting the testimonies of eye-witnesses.
  - b. By reporting the supernatural works of the Holy Spirit poured out by the risen Christ.
3. To make a historically-grounded evangelistic appeal to anyone interested in Jesus (possibly having read Luke's gospel first) or in the remarkable history of early Christianity.
4. To provide clarification for the _____ and encouragement for the _____ regarding the expansion of God's salvation to the nations.
5. To provide a defense of Christianity against the charge that it was a _____ to the empire.
6. To provide a defense of the apostles Peter and Paul against those who wished to discredit them.
7. To provide Christians with examples and principles for _____ their faith.
8. To _____ Christians with the evident outworking of God's ancient plans and promises.
9. To encourage Christians with the news of the advance of the gospel and motivate them with _____.
10. To provide a basic pattern of witness to Jesus, gospel advance, and the establishment of local churches for the generations of Christian who would follow the apostles.
11. To help Christians know and follow Jesus with even more _____ conviction.