

10 Reasons Why Christians Should Focus More on the Gospel Than Politics

1. Politics change. The gospel doesn't (Matthew 24:35.)
2. The gospel will transform our politics, not vice versa (Romans 12:1,2.)
3. It's what Jesus calls us to do (Acts 1:6-8.)
4. We are citizens of a different kingdom (Philippians 3:20.)
5. It's what the early church focused on (Acts 4:23-31.)
6. It attacks the root of evil and not just the fruit of it (Romans 1:16.)
7. Politics can divide the body of Christ while the gospel will unite us. (Philippians 1:27)
8. The gospel calls us to pray for politicians we disagree with, not hate them (1 Timothy 2:1-4.)
9. The gospel brings political action soaked in love and humility, not pride and arrogance (Romans 13:1-8.)
10. Politics are a reflection of the moral compass of a society. The gospel gives society a new compass that is accurate (Titus 3:1-5.)

My point is, not that we should avoid politics as Christians, but that we should focus more on the gospel.

By Greg Stier , Christian Post Guest Columnist

Copyright © Christianpost.com. All rights reserved.
May 16, 2012 9:09 am

Reprinted from <http://www.christianpost.com/news/10-reasons-why-christians-should-focus-more-on-the-gospel-than-politics-75030/#0CU4wRLHuig3vMVA.99>