Children, Obey Your Parents Ephesians 6:1-3

These words must cause us to take a spiritual inventory of our homes. Is it "well" in our homes? Is there anything out of order? Have we drifted from God's design for our families? These verses are directed, first of all to children, then to parents. What we do with our children determines their destiny and the destiny of our nation. What children do with their parents determines whether they will be successful in what really matters. It determines if it is "well" with them. In this message, I will focus on what God says to children.

Four things you must know about this passage

I. The command to obey

II. Your attitude toward obedience

III. Why should you obey?

Words for kids to listen for

Is it well?

Spiritual inventory

Fifth Commandment

Work of the Holy Spirit in the home

Obey

Attitude toward obedience

In the Lord

Honor

It is right

Pleases the Lord

When you are young

Root out selfishness

Narcissism

Rolling eyes

Whining

Hitting

Talking back

Because your parents are flawed

No one escapes authority

Success

Obedience in the church, government, and employers at work