“Many were the...hours that Lois his grandmother spent with Timothy....Over Abraham and Isaac, and Jacob, and Joseph, and David, and Solomon....She would show him how all those great men of his mother’s and grandmother’s Scriptures became wise unto salvation....[She also showed him how] they became foolish, and risked their salvation....Little did Lois dream as she went on with her [godly work] that she was thereby writing her name so impressively on the immortal pages of our New Testament. Little did she dream that we would actually be reading about her, about her daughter Eunice, and about her grandson Timothy, in this far-off [country centuries later]. Little did that [dear grandmother] think that many of us in this congregation...would carry home lessons of salvation [from her life]. Great and marvellous are your words, Lord God Almighty; just and true are your ways, O King of saints!”
