1. As God's servant, believers have the responsibility to live righteously and the privilege of trusting their Lord to come to their aid.

- a. Each believer has a _____ intimacy with the Lord and have committed to live righteously so as to honor Him.
- b. The Lord has fully paid the _____ each of His servants owe, so they have the privilege of asking Him to intervene when they find themselves being treated unjustly.

2. As God's servant, believers are in covenant with Him so they can trust Him for deliverance, for mercy, and for understanding of His Word.

- a. The Lord has so transformed the _____ of His servants that they have a longing for and a confidence in Him as their deliverer.
- b. God's servants are well aware of their sin and weakness so they regularly come to Him for _____.

- c. God's servants have been given a desire for His Word and realize how vital it is that they _____ it well.

"It is only that kind of personal knowledge of the God of the Word mediated through the Word of God that can provide _____ resources for the pressures and pains, and in the case of this psalmist, the persecutions of life in the real world." - George Zemek

3. As God's servants, believers have a _____ for God's reputation to be upheld and for His Word to be rightly esteemed.

- a. God's servants want to see Him _____ when His law is so blatantly rejected.
- b. God's servants love His commandments more than a _____ loves his gold.
- c. The love God's servants have for His honor and for His Word cause them to have a holy hatred for false ways that are presented as if they are _____.
