THE FAITH THAT SAVES

| Various | Texts |
|---------|-------|
|---------|-------|

"Examine Your Faith: Dead or Alive?"

Theologians through the centuries have defined saving faith as comprised of three elements: knowledge (notitia), assent (assensus), and commitment or trust (fiducia). In other words, a genuine, biblical, saving faith will involve the mind, the heart, and the will. This faith, gifted by God, engages the whole person in trusting Christ through a working and living faith that endures. It is truly The Faith That Saves!

| I. Knowledge              | Supporting Scripture |
|---------------------------|----------------------|
|                           | References           |
| 1.                        |                      |
|                           |                      |
| 2                         |                      |
| 3                         |                      |
|                           |                      |
| II. Assent                |                      |
|                           |                      |
| 1                         |                      |
|                           |                      |
| 2                         |                      |
| 3                         |                      |
| 3                         |                      |
| III. Trust and Commitment |                      |
|                           |                      |
| 1                         |                      |
|                           |                      |
| 2                         |                      |
| 3                         |                      |
| 3                         |                      |
|                           |                      |
|                           |                      |

Cornerstone Baptist Church

Pastor Marc Brashear, 07/29/12