

PSALM 119

The Great Spoil of the Word
Psalm 119:161-168

Mac Williams, Pastor
August 6, 2023

1. The context for this stanza is the unlawful persecution the psalmist endured from the civil magistrates.

2. Even in great trials believers can reverently rejoice at the great _____ they have in the Word of God.

“How little do crowns and scepters become in the judgment of that man who perceives a more majestic royalty in the commands of his God.”

- Charles Spurgeon

- a. By rejoicing in the Word of God, believers are given the nugget of needed _____ about truth vs. falsehood.
- b. By rejoicing in the Word of God, believers are given the nugget of having the praises of God pervade _____ the duties of their days.
- c. By rejoicing in the Word of God, believers are given the nugget of resting in God’s good and wise _____ in the affairs of men.

- d. By rejoicing in the Word of God, believers are given the nugget of great _____ in the midst of great storms.
- e. By rejoicing in the Word of God, believers are given the nugget of _____ in life.

3. The great spoil of the Word of God prompts God-honoring obedience in the people of God.

- a. The believer’s obedience is enabled by the _____ God gives.
- b. The believer’s obedience is characterized by _____ for the Lord and for His Word.
- c. The believer’s obedience is motivated by the desire to _____ the Lord in all things.